

In an ongoing monitoring of market behaviour and liquidity, we have observed that recently there has been an increased volatility in the minutes before and after "end-of-day" rollover time, which can result in sudden price spikes.

While this is beyond our control, we are committed to providing the best trading conditions to our clients and in an effort to protect traders from such short-term increase of volatility, we will take the following temporary measures:

Daily market close will occur at 16:55 EST (23:55h MT4 time) each day (instead of the current 16:59 EST / 23:59h MT4) and will resume as usual at 17:05 EST (00:005h MT4 time).

This decision was taken after extensive analysis of recent price data.

For a complete list of the trading hours for all instruments please visit our website at <http://www.tier1fx.com/en/trading-accounts/trading-conditions-execution/>

Please feel free to contact us at support@tier1fx.com or by phone at +356 2327 3000, should you require further details or assistance.

Best Regards,

Tier1FX Team

The Shackleton Building
Blue Harbour, Ta'Xbiex Seafront
Ta'Xbiex XBX 1027
Malta

Risk Disclaimer

Please be advised that trading in any market carries risk, and trading foreign exchange ("FX"), futures, options, contract for differences (CFDs) and precious metals involve a substantial risk of loss that may not be suitable for you. Leverage creates enhanced risk and loss exposure. If you decide to trade in these markets we ask that you carefully consider your trading objectives, experience, and risk appetite. Even though risk can be managed, it cannot be eliminated and losses can quickly compound and exceed your initial deposit. You are liable for all losses and debits in your account.